Included here are just a few of our wide stock range of packaging. If you can't find what you want or would like to discuss your particular requirements in more detail with us, or you'd like one of our packaging specialists to call and help identify cost savings or cost efficiency benefits, by purchasing your packaging from us, then please contact your local Antalis sales office and they will be happy to arrange a visit.

STRETCH WRAP

Whenever selecting film, the following variables should be taken into account:

Type of product

Stretch film type is dependent on what you are wrapping. Lighter, more fragile goods require a lower gauge of film to avoid being crushed than do heavier, more solid goods that can withstand the pressure of higher gauges.

Type of load

There are two factors that determine load type – the weight of the load and the uniformity of its outside surface. Examples of different load types are shown below:

Type of equipment

Machine stretch levels will help determine what type of film is necessary to wrap a load. Whereas higher gauges were once required for machines with high pre-stretch levels, today we are selling thinner, tougher films which are able to endure greater levels of stretch while maintaining their strength.

CARTONS

When measuring a box, the dimensions are given in the following order:-

length x breadth x height

(all measurements are internal)

Single Wall Corrugated Cardboard consists of one fluted medium between two sheets of linerboard

Double Wall has two fluted mediums sandwiched between three sheets of linerboard

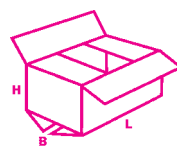

Single Wall

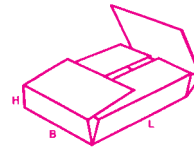

Double Wall

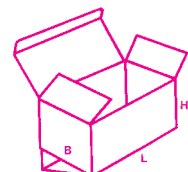

Box styles are what we use to describe what style of box you might need. We use the industry-standard codes for different box styles, for example, the most popular box style is 0201 which is a type of box you are fairly used to seeing - it has two outer flaps that meet in the middle top and bottom to tape.

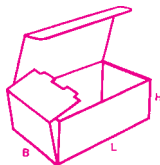

Fefco style 0201

Fefco style 0211

CUSHIONING

Bubble film is one of the most recognised protective packaging products on the market. Air bubble film offers an economical, effective solution for void filling, interleaving, wrapping and cushioning.

Small - Protects against marring and scratching of delicate and vulnerable surfaces

Large - Very versatile for cushioning a wide variety of products

Packaging Foam is one of the more versatile packaging materials in use today. Low-density polyethylene is extruded to form thousands of tiny cells, each full of air and each cell combining to form a non cross-linked foam.

STRAPPING

Polypropylene tensional strapping is a safe and secure method of sealing your boxes or securing your pallets. Hand strapping is available either on a cardboard core or a plastic reel. We also offer a wide range of machine strapping for customers with semi or fully automatic strapping machines.

Polyester strapping is a great alternative to steel strapping, its excellent recovery properties help a load absorb impacts without the straps breaking.

We stock an extensive range of boxes including single wall, double wall and stationery boxes suitable for letterheads, compliment slips and business cards.

This economical range is ideal for protecting goods in transit, supplied flat for easy storage.
